The Perfect Finishing Touch

A key reason for choosing decorama's parquet is the 7 layers of hard wearing and abrasion resistant UV cured acrylic varnishes that are applied to maintain a fantastic look to the natural wood.

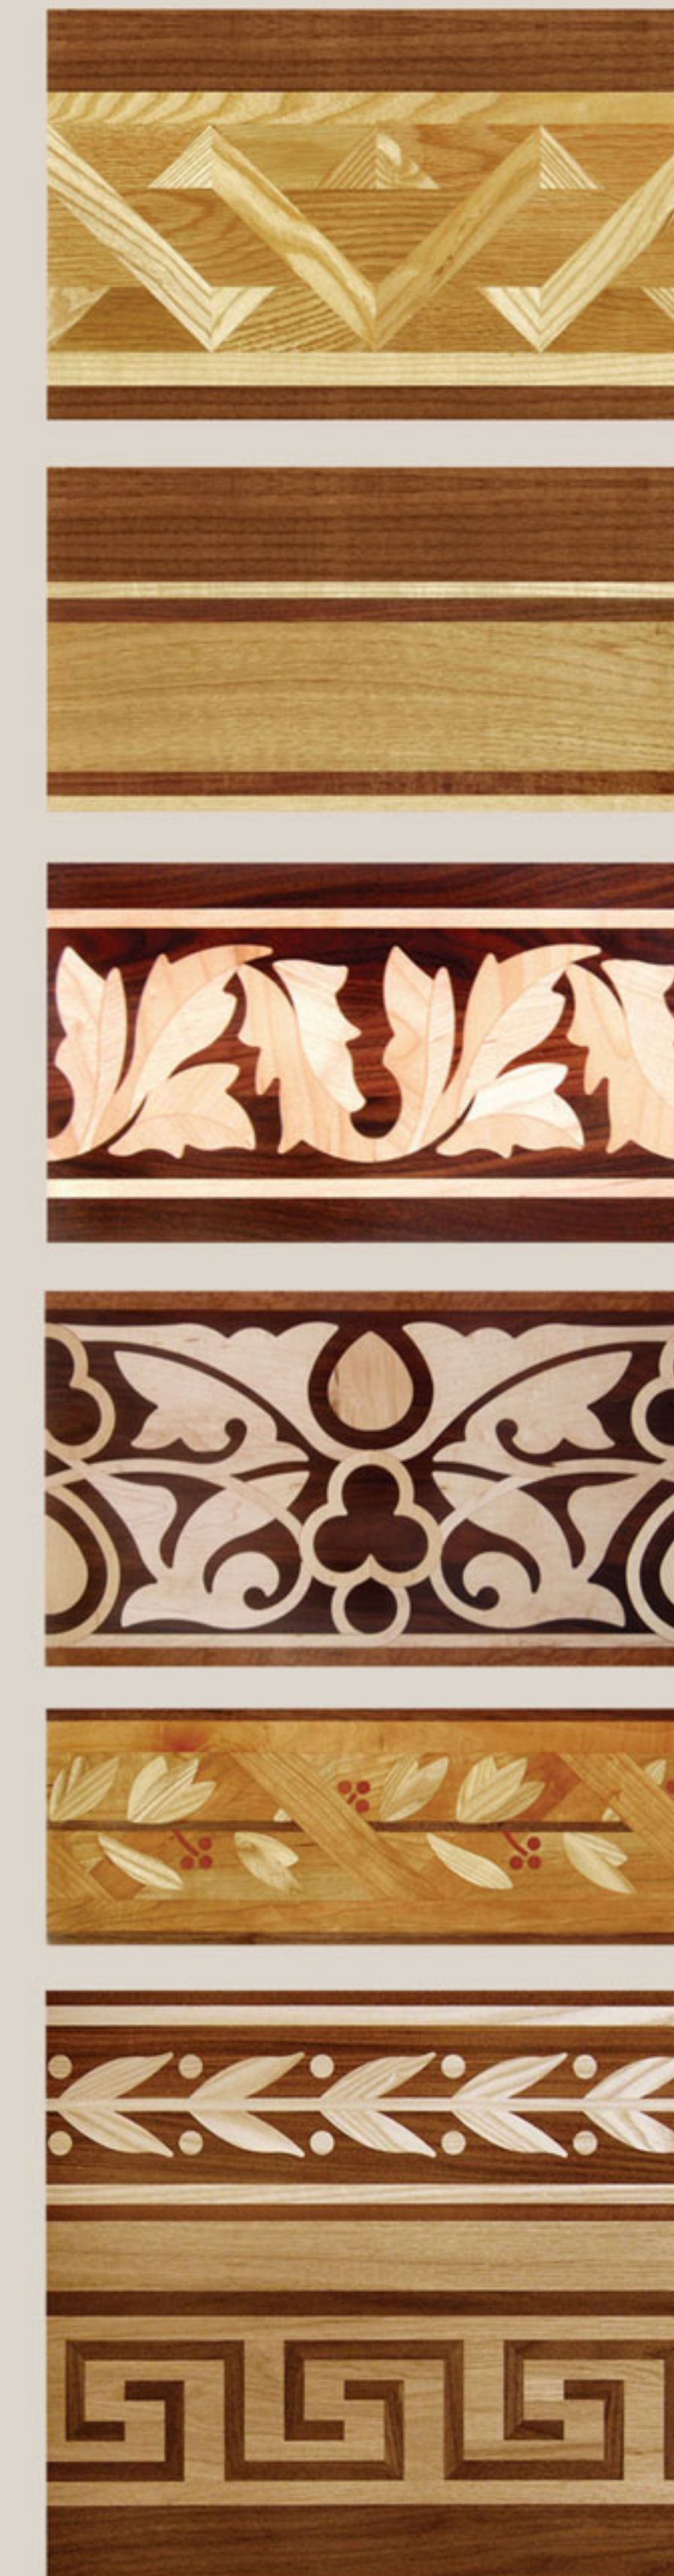

The Maximum
In Quality

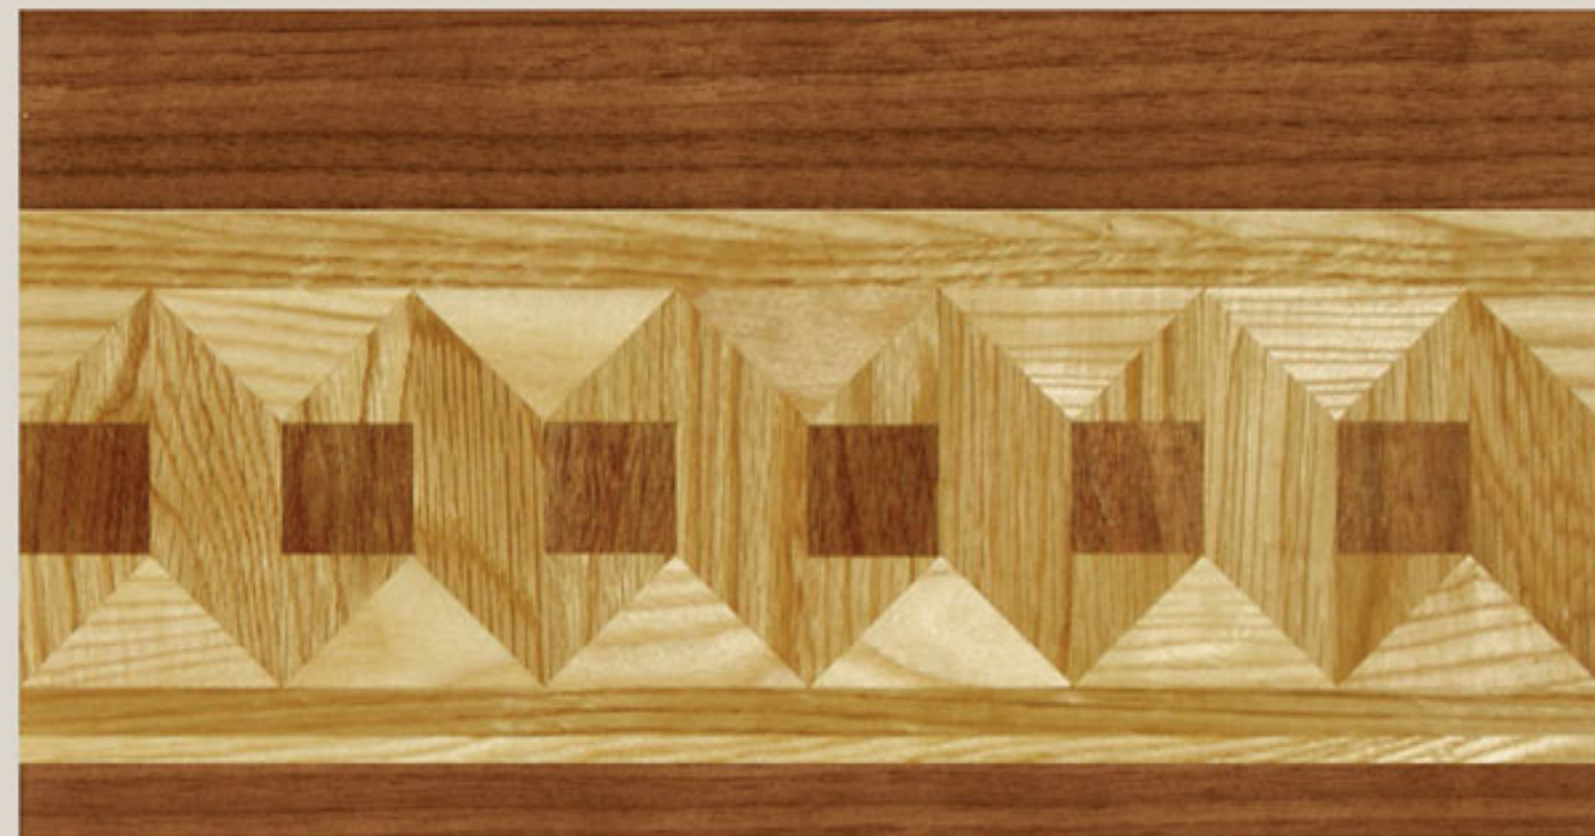

Since the company was founded in 1975, decorama progressed from being a mere craft enterprise into an industrial wood processing company. Understanding the natural characteristics of wood to show it at it's best is a philosophy that made decorama the benchmark for quality and a leader in manufacturing processes.

A wonderful variety of parquet tiles and borders is the outcome of decorama's skill and expertise in using advanced wood-cutting CNC technology to create complicated and intricate designs, together with the harmonic use of the different colour shades of natural wood species.

A Taste of Discrete Luxury Homes

Our advanced industrial capabilities, and the use of advanced technology, guarantee a stable and continuous production of high quality wooden floors, no matter how intricate the designs are.

One of the things so characteristic about decorama's natural parquet floors is the beveling of the four tile and plank edges. This gives decorama parquet floors an extra, valuable, authentic touch.
